

The Unadoptables is an action-packed, adventurous, mysterious and overall AMAZING book. I particularly LOVE this book and one of the reason is because it has all the elements that I enjoy and love!

The story is about 5 children, they are around 12 years old and they're all stuck in an orphanage and they are put to hard labour. They have to work as a team and always stick together to go out and live a better life.

I very muchly underestimated this book; it is definitely one of my favourite books of all books I've ever read. The story goes through many different stages but yet it always connects back to the storyline.

'The Unadoptables' is a story of hope, courage, loyalty and faith. Throughout all the different stages of the book the characters all get a chance to show off their skills and what they can do. This book also demonstrates the importance of team work.

The Unadoptables covers so much depth in each sentence, page and chapter. This splendid book paints a crystal clear image in your mind, and trust me when you start reading you get completely sucked into this thrilling book and you'll never want to stop reading!

I would suggest this book for ages 10+ because if I were any younger than I am now I would not have understood the storyline on the level I do now. This book just hit the spot for me, a splendid and wonderous book.
