

I liked this book because I like this style of writing and I think the author did a good job in telling and explaining the story because it had a strong description. The book had a good story line that was clear and didn't have too many unnecessary details.

What also made the book good was that all the different characters have very different personalities and are all unique. I also liked it because it's like a mix of different genres. For me I feel like the book is a mix of fantasy and mystery.

One thing I didn't really enjoy was the ending because I really wanted to find out what happened next. I would recommend this book to people that like enjoy fantasy books, and I suggest this book for people 8+. Overall I rate it a 4/5.
