

I really enjoyed reading this book because of the interesting characters and of course the story line. I loved how this story taught the reader the importance of trust and to be careful of who you should trust but to also trust yourself.

My favourite character in the book is Lunnah because she's really funny and a little cheeky while Caption Nuk isn't watching. I loved the way she acts all fierce and strong but really she misses her family too. The author was really good at character development and coming up with that story line must of been a challenge.

I think that this book would be good for someone who likes How To Train Your Dragon and Frozen. I think the age should be nine plus because in some parts it gets a little bit sad.

I think this book was a little too long for my liking but it was still an engaging read and I was really excited to see what was coming next in each chapter. I really enjoyed this book and I would definitely recommend this book to others and maybe there could be another book in this series.
