

SPOILERS REDACTED

My favourite part of the story is when they find [REDACTED]

Another favourite is when Frank encounters [REDACTED] It could have been really bad if [REDACTED]

It's interesting when they try to return to their coastwatching island as when they get spotted by the Japanese plane and they have to make some tough decisions as [REDACTED] It's quite smart what they did. [REDACTED]

David Hill did really well on this book. It was really exciting and I didn't lose interest in it. At the same time it could be not so interesting in the middle of a chapter but at the end it was always really exciting which made me go on to finishing it.

I really liked my book because my grandfather fought in the war in a big bombing plane so I enjoy war stories and I always like to learn more about what happened during the war.

Would probably recommend this book to people who are around my age group (12), And anyone who's interested in the war.

- Matt, 12, Christchurch